COVID-19 COMMUNITY RESPONSE FUND

In the unprecedented era of COVID-19, the San Angelo Area Foundation helped mobilize nearly $300,000 for local charities in effort to quickly provide emergency grants to charitable organizations in the Concho Valley who experienced increased service demand and/or were impacted by the economic consequences as a result of the pandemic.

The COVID-19 Community Response Fund was created by the nimble nature of the Foundation's Give for Good Fund, and through partnerships with organizations such as United Way of the Concho Valley, The Meadows Foundation, and AEP Foundation along with community donors, SAAF was able to quickly respond and compliment other available resources to address the needs of vulnerable populations disproportionately stressed.

With concern areas ranging from food insecurity to mental health, 37 organizations have received emergency grants to provide critical services and tackle difficult community challenges. SAAF continues to work alongside local charities that are working with individuals, families and the community who may be most affected by this pandemic. The chart represents emergency grant funding by concern area.

SCHOLARSHIP STUDENT HIGHLIGHT: ABIGAIL WEHNER

Abigail Wehner is a shining example of how contributions to scholarship funds at the San Angelo Area Foundation help create a path for brighter futures. A 2003 graduate of Central High School, Abigail is passionate about showing up for others in times of crisis, so while obtaining her undergraduate degree, she simultaneously completed her EMT certification and volunteered for many years. The skills she learned as an EMT combined with her compassion for others prepared her for the next journey in life. After a 10-year career in education, Abigail decided to pursue her medical degree after her best friend was paralyzed in a rock-climbing accident. As a personal aide and assistant during her friend's recovery, Abigail witnessed both the fragility and resiliency of the human body and reawakened her childhood dream of becoming a doctor.

Growing up in San Angelo, Abigail always felt supported and loved by the community that raised her. Through the competitive scholarship application process of the Foundation, Abigail was selected as a recipient of the Dr. T. Karman Weatherby M.D. Memorial Scholarship, awarded to an area youth accepted into medical school. Dr. Weatherby's family worked with the Foundation to create a scholarship honoring his life as a thoughtful and generous long-time physician in San Angelo. He touched many lives during his career and through this scholarship he continues to pave the way, leaving a legacy from one white coat to another.

Abigail has achieved many honors while in medical school and holds leadership positions within her class. Most recently, she was nominated for the Gold Humanism Honor Society, was recipient of the Perz Scholarship for exemplar of living life fully and is the current Class President of Wake Forest School of Medicine's Class of 2021. Abigail is awaiting her residency placement and plans to return to West Texas when she completes the four-year program.

Scholarship awards are possible thanks to the generosity of donors who have created more than 100 different scholarship funds. In 2020, the Foundation awarded 315 scholarships totaling $1.2 million to area students, and collectively donors have provided more than $11.7 million in scholarship awards over the past 15 years.

One Day to Give as One

During a time of unthinkable challenges, one thing was certain: COVID-19 cannot cancel community, generosity, or kindness! It is no surprise to see our community rise during times like these, opening their hearts to show gratitude for others.

On May 5, 2020, our community displayed heartfelt compassion, throwing kindness like confetti. Positioned perfectly for remote giving, San Angelo Gives inspired donors of all giving levels across our great region to go the distance—at a distance. In a defining moment of solidarity, over 10,000 gifts were made as part of this united effort and collectively raised over $2.6 MILLION of charitable dollars benefiting more than 189 area causes.

While the day's activities looked a little different than year's past, organizations across the Concho Valley rallied together remotely and through their computer screens celebrated as donors inspirationally gave.

The San Angelo Area Foundation and its supporters amplified each gift, making each gift greater! Plus, donors could help organizations that align with their passions win extra cash for their cause! The impact of our local organizations reaches far beyond the Concho Valley region with 221 gifts from 36 states, confirming that the San Angelo community is truly loved.

We hope that you will join us on May 4, 2021 as San Angelo Gives celebrates seven years of collective giving!
